1           I. INTRODUCTION

2           As this Court previously recognized, permitting immediate appeal prior to the resolution of 3           all motions to dismiss would undermine this litigation and provide the Ninth Circuit with an 4           incomplete record of the legal issues. See ECF No. 590 at 1. Several parties have asked the Court to 5           reconsider its stance. The Personal Injury and School District/Local Government Entity Plaintiffs 6           (“PI/SD Plaintiffs”) do not believe this is the most efficient course of action, given that several 7           motions to dismiss remain pending and discovery is almost complete.

8           In the motion at issue, the combined State Attorneys General (“State AGs”) seek interlocutory 9           review of this Court’s decision concluding that their unfair and unconscionable practices claims 10           cannot proceed with respect to certain features because of Section 230 of the Communications
 11           Decency Act, 47 U.S.C. § 230 (“Section 230”). ECF No. 1534 at 4. However, just as was the case
 12           when this Court denied Defendants’ prior motion seeking interlocutory review (ECF No. 590), 13           motions to dismiss remain pending and piecemeal appeals would not serve the interests of this MDL.
 14           Specifically, multiple personal injury claims remain unadjudicated on the pleadings, including certain 15           negligence claims, statutory causes of action related to child sexual abuse material on the platforms, 16           and loss of consortium and wrongful death/survival claims.

17           In addition, the State AGs seek interlocutory review at an advanced stage in this litigation.
 18           The Parties are within striking distance of the close of fact discovery, with expert reports, dispositive 19           motions, and proposed jury instructions only months away. See ECF No. 1159. The Court has 20           observed that the Section 230 inquiry is a fact-intensive one. See In re Soc. Media Adolescent
21           Addiction/Pers. Inj. Prods. Liab. Litig., 702 F. Supp. 3d 809, 829 (N.D. Cal. 2023) (explaining that 22           Section 230 requires analysis of “the specific conduct through which the defendants allegedly 23           violated their duties to plaintiffs”). Ninth Circuit review would benefit from the development of a full 24           evidentiary record in the District Court—rather than myriad appeals of overlapping issues proceeding 25           with the benefit of only incomplete discovery.

26           For these reasons, and others set forth below, at least two of the interlocutory appeal criteria
 27           set forth in 28 U.S.C. § 1292(b) are not satisfied here. First, this Court’s disposition of Meta’s claim 28           of Section 230 immunity does not involve a “controlling question of law,” but instead requires

1 application of law to facts, which is inappropriate for interlocutory review. Second, the State AGs 2 have not shown that immediate appeal would materially advance this litigation, as certification would 3 instead disrupt the trial schedule, which the parties have been working diligently to meet.

4 Accordingly, the PI/SD Plaintiffs respectfully ask the Court to deny the State AGs' Motion 5 for Interlocutory Appeal.

6 II. STATEMENT OF ISSUES TO BE DECIDED

7 Whether the State AGs have carried their burden under 28 U.S.C. § 1292(b) to show 8 exceptional circumstances exist to depart from the normal rule that only final judgments are 9 appealable.

10 III. BACKGROUND

11 For over two years, this Court has managed this sprawling multidistrict litigation ("MDL"), 12 encompassing an ever-growing number of actions brought by individuals, school districts, local 13 governments, and State AGs. To that end, this Court has crafted a structure to efficiently coordinate 14 and advance these proceedings, establishing five motion to dismiss tracks,<sup>1</sup> implementing a 15 bellwether process for discovery and trial, and entering a case schedule, which requires expert reports 16 to be exchanged in May 2025, summary judgment motions to be filed in September 2025, and 17 proposed jury instructions to be filed October 27, 2025, with trials slated to begin shortly thereafter.
 18 See ECF Nos. 604, 1159.

19 Pursuant to this framework, the Court has ruled on motions to dismiss the State AGs' claims, 20 the School Districts' claims, and certain but not all of the Personal Injury Plaintiffs' claims. See ECF
 21 Nos. 430, 1214, 1267. In each of these motions, Defendants argued that all claims must be dismissed 22 because they are barred by Section 230. In each case, this Court rejected that argument and instead 23 engaged in a conduct-specific, feature-by-feature analysis of each claim to determine whether Section 24 230 protection applied. See ECF Nos. 430 at 14, 1214 at 24-25, 1267 at 13-14. Applying this analysis, 25 the Court determined that Section 230 bars claims based on allegations that certain features of

26 <sup>1</sup> These tracks addressed: (1) the individual personal injury plaintiffs' ("Personal Injury Plaintiffs") 27 priority claims; (2) the state Attorneys General Complaint and Personal Injury Plaintiffs' Claims 7, 28 8, and 9; (3) the remaining Personal Injury Plaintiffs' claims; (4) the School Districts' and Local Governments' ("School Districts") nuisance and negligence claims pled in the Master Complaint; and (5) claims asserted against Defendant Mark Zuckerberg in his individual capacity. See ECF Nos.

1 Defendants' social-media products are defective, but claims based on non-protected conduct could 2 move forward. See ECF Nos. 430 at 51, 1214 at 24-37, 1267 at 13-14.

3 On December 12, 2023, Defendants sought interlocutory review under 28 U.S.C. § 1292(b)
 4 of this Court's Order granting in part and denying in part Defendants' Motion to Dismiss the Personal 5 Injury Plaintiffs' priority claims. See ECF No. 473. Defendants sought certification of three questions, 6 including “[w]hether Section 230 of the Communications Decency Act, 47 U.S.C. § 230, or the First 7 Amendment bar claims for failure to warn of an alleged design defect where claims targeting the 8 same underlying alleged defective design are barred.” ECF No. 590 at 3. This Court denied the 9 motion, concluding that Defendants had failed to make the required showing under Section 1292(b), 10 because immediate appeal would not materially advance this litigation. Id. at 4. More specifically, 11 this Court concluded that certification “would provide the Court of Appeals with a partial record of 12 the legal issues, invite later piecemeal appeals, and disrupt coordination among parallel proceedings.”
 13 Id. at 1-2.

14 After this Court ruled on the motions to dismiss the State AGs' and School Districts' claims, 15 Defendants yet again sought immediate appeal. On November 14, 2024, the Meta and TikTok 16 Defendants appealed those orders directly to the Ninth Circuit “to the extent that they denied the Meta 17 Defendants' motions to dismiss claims for failure to warn of alleged risks relating to certain platform
 18 features as barred by statutory immunity from suit pursuant to Section 230 of the Communications
 19 Decency Act . . . when claims targeting the same underlying platform features are barred by Section 20 230.” ECF No. 1330 at 3; accord ECF No. 1389. On December 16, 2024, the Snap and Google
 21 Defendants sought interlocutory review under 28 U.S.C. § 1292(b) on the same grounds. See ECF
 22 No. 1462.<sup>2</sup> On December 16, 2024, Defendants also moved to certify an interlocutory appeal of this 23 Court's Orders granting in part and denying in part Defendants' Motion to Dismiss the School 24 Districts' claims. ECF No. 1460. The PI/SD Plaintiffs opposed both motions on January 14, 2025.
 25 ECF Nos. 1545, 1546.

26 _____
 27 <sup>2</sup> The Meta Defendants filed a “conditional” joinder of the Snap and Google Defendants' § 1292(b)
 Motion. ECF No. 1463.
 28 _____

1           The State AGs then also moved for a certificate of appealability on January 14, 2025,<sup>3</sup> seeking 2 Ninth Circuit review of this Court’s determination that Section 230 barred their claims alleging that 3 Meta’s (1) infinite scroll and autoplay features; (2) ephemeral content features; (3) disruptive
 4 audiovisual and vibration notifications and alerts; (4) quantification and display of “Likes”; and (5) 5 algorithmic service of content according to “variable reinforcement schedules,” constituted unfair or 6 unconscionable business practices. See ECF No. 1534 at 4. The PI/SD Plaintiffs now oppose that 7 Motion.

8           IV.    LEGAL STANDARD

9           Interlocutory appeal under Section 1292(b) is a “departure from the normal rule that only final 10 judgments are appealable.” James v. Price Stern Sloan, Inc., 283 F.3d 1064, 1067 n.6 (9th Cir. 2002).
 11 This exception “must be construed narrowly.” Id. Under Section 1292(b), a federal district court may 12 exercise its discretion to certify a non-dispositive order for interlocutory review only where: (1) the 13 order “involves a controlling question of law,” (2) “as to which there is substantial ground for 14 difference of opinion,” and (3) “an immediate appeal from the order may materially advance the 15 ultimate termination of the litigation.” 28 U.S.C. § 1292(b). The party seeking certification bears the 16 burden of demonstrating that all the requirements are satisfied and that such a departure from the 17 normal rule is warranted. Coopers & Lybrand v. Livesay, 437 U.S. 463, 475 (1978). Satisfaction of 18 all three elements is required. C.W. v. Epic Games, Inc., 2020 WL 6064422, at *1 (N.D. Cal. Oct. 14, 19 2020) (Gonzalez Rogers, J.). However, “[e]ven where the party seeking to certify an issue for 20 interlocutory review meets its burden to show that each of the three requirements are satisfied, ‘a 21 district court’s decision to grant or deny certification is entirely discretionary.’” Doe v. Meta 22 Platforms, Inc., 2024 WL 4375776, at *1 (N.D. Cal. Oct. 2, 2024) (quoting Finjan, Inc. v. Check 23 Point Software Techs., Inc., 2020 WL 1929250, at *3 (N.D. Cal. Apr. 21, 2020)).

24           V.    ARGUMENT

25           The narrow question for which the State AGs seek immediate Ninth Circuit review—whether 26 their unfair and unconscionable practices claims can extend to five features of Meta’s platforms—27 does not meet the “extraordinary circumstances” required by Section 1292(b). See United States v.

28           <sup>3</sup> The State AGs concurrently filed a response to the Snap and Google Defendants’ motion for certificate of appealability. ECF No. 1535.

1        Acad. Mortg. Corp., 2018 WL 6592782, at *2 (N.D. Cal. Dec. 14, 2018) (“Certification for 2        interlocutory review is appropriate only in ‘exceptional’ or ‘extraordinary’ circumstances, not simply 3        where issues are hard or questions are somewhat new.”). The State AGs cannot demonstrate that two 4        of the statutory elements necessary for 1292(b) certification are present, and for that reason their 5        Motion should be denied.

6                    A.        The Opinions Do Not Involve Controlling Questions of Law Justifying 7                    Interlocutory Review

8        To meet the jurisdictional requirements of Section 1292(b), “[a] controlling question of law 9        must be one of law—not fact.” ICTSI Or., Inc. v. Int'l Longshore & Warehouse Union, 22 F.4th 1125, 10       1130 (9th Cir. 2022). This means “[t]he legal question must be stated at a high enough level of 11       abstraction to lift the question out of the details of the evidence of facts of a particular case and give 12       it general relevance to other cases in the same area of law.” Delux Pub. Charter, LLC v. County of 13       Orange, 2023 WL 2558784, at *2 (C.D. Cal. Jan. 11, 2023). However, as this Court has repeatedly 14       made clear, determining the applicability of Section 230 is a fact-bound analysis based on the 15       defendant’s specific conduct. See, e.g., ECF No. 1214 at 24-25 (applying a “conduct-specific, feature-16       by-feature analysis”); see also Lemmon v. Snap, Inc., 995 F.3d 1085, 1091 (9th Cir. 2021) (denying 17       immunity under Section 230 where the plaintiffs’ “claim turns on Snap’s design of Snapchat”). In the 18       Order at issue, this Court considered the features at issue in the State AGs’ complaint to determine 19       whether Defendants “directly target defendants’ roles as publishers of third-party content.” ECF No.
 20       1214 at 25 (quoting In re Soc. Media Adolescent Addiction/Pers. Inj. Prods. Liab. Litig., 702 F. Supp.
 21       3d at 830). Such application of the law to the facts does not constitute a controlling question of law 22       sufficient to invoke Section 1292(b) jurisdiction. Guidiville Rancheria of Cal. v. United States, 2014
 23       WL 5020036, at *2 (N.D. Cal. Oct. 2, 2014) (Gonzalez Rogers, J.). Here, the evidence regarding 24       Meta’s conduct and its platforms’ features is intrinsically intertwined with the facts of this particular 25       case, making it ill-suited for interlocutory review.

26       The State AGs state that certification of this Court’s Order on their unfairness claims would 27       “be more efficient” and “could resolve Meta’s argument that the State AGs’ corresponding deception 28       claims should be dismissed.” ECF No. 1534 at 8-9. However, the Ninth Circuit has held that a 1 question is not controlling simply because its resolution “may appreciably shorten the time, effort, or 2 expense of conducting a lawsuit.” In re Cement Antitrust Litig., 673 F.2d 1020, 1027 (9th Cir. 1981).

 3 Indeed, such an approach would “essentially read[] the ‘controlling question of law’ requirement out
 4 of section 1292(b).” Id.; see also Andrews v. Plains All Am. Pipeline, LP, 2022 WL 1840329, at *3 5 (C.D. Cal. Mar. 8, 2022) (explaining that the Ninth Circuit “expressly rejected a similar interpretation 6 of ‘controlling question’ that relied on cost and time savings considerations”). The PI/SD Plaintiffs 7 respectfully submit that the fact-specific nature of the Section 230 analysis makes appellate review 8 inappropriate in this interlocutory posture.

9 B. Interlocutory Review Would Not Materially Advance the Ultimate Termination 10 of this Litigation

11 When this Court denied Defendants’ first motion to certify this Court’s Section 230 ruling for 12 interlocutory review, it explained that permitting piecemeal appeals would disrupt this litigation and 13 undermine its effort to impose a structure that would facilitate effective coordination and resolution 14 of the claims in this MDL. See ECF 590 at 4. Specifically, the Court found that immediate appeal
 15 “would provide the Court of Appeals with a partial record of the legal issues,” given the still pending 16 resolution of outstanding motions to dismiss. Id. at 1. This concern is still relevant. Not only are the 17 Parties awaiting adjudication of the Motion to Dismiss the Personal Injury Plaintiffs’ so-called non-18 priority claims (including their significant negligence claim), but the State AGs’ proposed 19 interlocutory appeal substantially overlaps with the claims of the PI/SD Plaintiffs. See id. at 5. Indeed, 20 while the State AGs recognize that the Court’s resolution of Meta’s Section 230 challenge to their 21 unfairness and deception claims is intertwined with its analyses of the PI/SD Plaintiffs’ claims, their 22 motion does not address the implications of their appeal for the PI/SD Plaintiffs’ cases that are moving 23 through discovery. See ECF No. 1534 at 11-12.

24 In reality, certification would detract from “this MDL’s current momentum,” ECF No. 590 at 25 6, by requiring the Parties to brief an appeal on fact-bound merits issues when they would otherwise 26 be focused on concluding discovery and preparing for trial. In addition, while the Court has not set a 27 schedule for bellwether trials, given that merits and Daubert briefing is set to be completed this fall, 28 it is likely that trials will begin in early 2026. That early trial date could be threatened if an appeal on

1 a core legal issue is still pending at that time. For this reason, the Ninth Circuit has made clear “that 2 an interlocutory appeal that threatens to delay trial is not likely to advance materially the termination
 3 of the lawsuit.” In re NCAA Student-Athlete Name & Likeness Licensing Litig., 2014 WL 12642228, 4 at *2 (N.D. Cal. May 23, 2014); see also Shurance v. Planning Control Int’l, Inc., 839 F.2d 1347, 5 1348 (9th Cir. 1988) (“Indeed, an interlocutory appeal might well have the effect of delaying the 6 resolution of this litigation, for an appeal probably could not be completed before July, 1988, when 7 trial is currently scheduled.”). Given the fact-bound nature of the Section 230 analysis, fully 8 developing the evidentiary record in accordance with this Court’s Case Management Orders is the 9 most efficient way to facilitate any Ninth Circuit review. See ECF No. 1159.

10 Moreover, the State AGs’ appeal would—at most—add five features to their consumer 11 protection claims. See ECF No. 1214 at 96-97. When “litigation will be conducted in substantially 12 the same manner regardless of our decision, the appeal cannot be said to materially advance the 13 ultimate termination of the litigation.” Wang v. Zymergen Inc., 2024 WL 5116962, at *6 (N.D. Cal.
 14 Dec. 16, 2024).

15 VI. CONCLUSION

16 For the foregoing reasons, the PI/SD Plaintiffs respectfully ask this Court to deny the State 17 AGs’ Motion for Interlocutory Appeal.
